Your opportunity with Software AG

Why working together matters

Trends like cloud, mobile, the Internet of Things (IoT) and big data are changing how businesses connect with consumers and each other. As a result, businesses are setting aside budget to free their data from silos to connect anything and everything.

To seize this market opportunity, you require software that opens data and connects apps, devices and people so you don't have to compromise when guiding customers through their transformation. We need local market experts, industry gurus and solution builders. Together, we have the skills and software to stand apart from competitors—and be wildly successful.

Your opportunity for growth

Low upfront investment

Quick payback period

Special pricing

Strong partner incentives

Consulting and professional services opportunities
